ABSTRACT

CONCLUSION The results of this study suggest that the use of a single, standardized, and validated questionnaire is a feasible and reliable method for assessing the prevalence of occupational stress in a large, multi-site, multi-national sample of health care workers. The prevalence of occupational stress was found to be high, and the results suggest that the use of a single, standardized, and validated questionnaire is a feasible and reliable method for assessing the prevalence of occupational stress in a large, multi-site, multi-national sample of health care workers.

theoretical aspects of the problem, and to a review of the literature on the subject. The second part is devoted to a discussion of the experimental results, and to a comparison of the results with the theoretical predictions. The third part is devoted to a discussion of the conclusions, and to a summary of the results. The fourth part is devoted to a
